

THE SPORTSMEN'S HOOK™

Congratulations on your purchase of the Sportsmen's Hook. The Sportsmen's Hook is a secure and portable device for holding shotguns, rifles, fishing rods, oars, canoe paddles or a variety of other tools in a canoe, boat or virtually anything or anywhere with railings or gunwales.

This is a brief instructional guide describing the proper use of the Sportsmen's Hook.

The Sportsmen's Hook is uniquely designed to hang on the gunwales of a boat or canoe. The dense foam construction provides a sturdy support to hang a rifle, shotgun, etc., and is designed to minimize rattling and damage to the boat or carried item while motoring or paddling.

When hung on a canoe or duck skiff, you will want to position the mid-section extension, or "kicker," away from the side of the boat to ease access to your firearm. (See Figure 1).

When hung on a V-hull or pontoon tailing, the hook can be inverted so that the kicker is pointed away from the side of the boat. This keeps the hook and gun closer to the side of the boat when that configuration is more desirable. (See Figure 2). By using a pair of Sportsmen's Hooks, you will be able to hold one gun or up to 4 fishing rods in the provided key-slots. (See Figure 3).

Car-top Carrier Instructions

1. Lay 4 Sportsman's Hooks flat on car-top
2. Place canoe on top of 4 hooks
3. Reposition each hook with flat top of hook against roof and bulk of hook located underneath canoe
4. Find 4 attachment sites underneath the bumpers of the vehicle (2 front and 2 rear). Use them to attach the metal s-hooks.
5. Place straps firmly through bow and stern handles on canoe and hook loops on end of strapping to the metal s-hooks previously located, forming a v-shaped pattern.

The Sportsmen's Hook can also be used individually to hold jackets, lanterns, or virtually anything while in camp. Its closed-cell foam construction will not absorb water and will float, and is therefore easily retrievable if lost overboard. It's black in color so that it will not reflect light, making it less visible to waterfowl.

We hope you enjoy your set of Sportsmen's Hooks. If you have any questions or suggestions, please contact us at americanadventureproducts.com

